The paper has many unexpected linefeed and mismatch of tab, in the abstract and through out the body, that must be corrected. The abstract should be in a single paragraph. There are also problems also in in-text citation and reference style to meet the APA style. For instance, According to the APA style, first 6 authors should be included before using et al., for the first time appearance of an author group. The table is not in APA formatted, in terms of borders and spaces. The statistical symbols, for instance, the correlation coefficient  $r$  should be mentioned here in italicized form, wherever required. There are many other issues that are commented in the reviewed file.
